Mrs. Robert Ritchie was taken seriously ill last week with neuralgia of the heart.

We have had three runaways in our village within a short time, no damage done by any of them.

There will be no services at the U. P. church until May, as Rev. Mr. Harris is to be away for a time.

Martha Lang is working for Mrs. William Young.—James Lang will work for Thomas Wilson sugaring.

Our road commissioner has had the road machine out cutting out the cradle holes on the Bend road.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a sugar social at the Lakeview boarding house as soon as new sugar can be obtained.

Last Wednesday Warren Caswell and wife were surprised by about twenty-five of their neighbors and friends calling on them to remind them that it was Mr. Caswell's 54th birthday. Refreshments were furnished by the ladies and there was a general good time.

HOLLAND.

Death never visited a community causing more genuine sorrow than was felt last Friday afternoon when it entered the home of Amos B. Moulton, and removed from the family circle the beloved wife and mother. Mrs. Harriet (Burroughs) Moulton was born in Morgan fifty-three years ago the fifth day of last January, and for thirty-three years has been well known here, having spent all of her married life in our midst, and it can be truthfully said, that "none knew her but to love her."

A loving and devoted wife, tender and affectionate mother; kind and obliging; never sitting down contented, when it was within her power to relieve the wants of others. She was an exemplary Christian, whose every day life demonstrates the fact that she was wholly and unreservedly consecrated to Him, whom she professed to love and serve. The funeral services were conducted by Elder Harry D. Selby, who spoke from the text found in Matt. 13-28 "An enemy hath done this."

The Advent church, of which she has been a faithful working member for many years, was not large enough to seat the many friends who came to pay their last respects to her. It was very affecting to see her Sunday-school class of fifteen children, with crapes on their arms, take a last sad look at the pale, yet smiling face of their dear teacher, and then pass down the aisle, tears running down their little cheeks, and sobbing as if they had lost their own mother. Truly every one in the house filled a mourners seat. Much sympathy is extended by a scattering community to the afflicted family, and especially to the aged mother. May she be given strength to support her under all the trials and afflictions she is destined to endure while passing through this vale of tears.

We, the undersigned, take this method of returning to the kind friends and neighbors, and especially to the singers, our heart-felt thanks for all their services during the sickness and burial of our loving wife and mother.

A. B. MOULTON AND CHILDREN.

The following resolutions on the death of Mrs. Hattie Moulton have been passed by the King's Daughters of which society she was a faithful member:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Golden Rule Circle, while we feel deeply our loss, rejoice that "He doeth all things well."

Resolved, That we each will ever try to follow her Christian example.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of the circle, a copy sent to the Monitor for publication and copies furnished for the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That we each will ever try to follow her Christian example.

Frank O. Spencer, whose serious illness was recorded in last week's issue of the Monitor, died in Albany, N. Y. last Wednesday. The remains were brought here for burial. The deceased was born in Westmore, April 15, 1882. About four years ago, Mr. Spencer's people moved to West Burke, since which time Frank has made many friends. He was a bright, intelligent boy, and early developed a great love for study. He attended the village school here till about two years ago, when he entered St. Johnsbury Academy. He remained there only a short time however, deciding he preferred a business career, and later entered Barbour's Business College to fit himself for the same. January 1st, 1900, he went to Albany, N. Y., where he attended the business college of that city. He had worked very faithfully and earned much well merited praise from his teachers during his stay there. He would have finished the course in about six weeks had he lived. March 15, Frank began to feel ill and the following Monday telegraphed for his sister, Miss Celia Spencer, who is a student at Mt. Holyoke College. She started immediately and on reaching there and finding her brother very ill, she sent at once for Mr. Spencer, who arrived there Wednesday. The disease was typhoid fever, but it was found that he was suffering from acute Bright's disease, and one lung was badly affected. He was only conscious at intervals after his father and sister reached him. Every thing that the best medical attendance and the most tender care could accomplish was done, but even that could not keep him, and the bright, young life that gave every promise of so rich a future, passed beyond that world from which there is no returning. The funeral was held at his late home on School St. Saturday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Emery officiating. The bereaved family have the deepest sympathy of the whole community in their great sorrow.

F. E. Foss is getting out lumber to enlarge his stable.

Mrs. C. M. Bailey died last Thursday after a long illness.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cargill died recently.

Sheffield.

Ernest Lawson has pneumonia, and Mrs. Lawson is confined to her bed, though both seem to be doing as well as could be expected.—Mrs. Hannah Folsom is better.

Anson Gray, who was the oldest man in town, was buried here last Tuesday. He was "born here, but lived in Sutton for many years; he returned here a few years ago, living with his son Silas. He was nearly 97 years old, and had lived with his wife over seventy-two years. The funeral was held Tuesday Rev. P. B. Parker officiating.

Mrs. Betsey Ann Newell who recently went to Lyndon from this place, attempted suicide in a fit of insanity last Tuesday by cutting her throat with a razor. She had been saying strange things for some time but no one imagined she was insane until the sad occurrence. The doctors sewed up the wound and at last accounts it appeared favorable for her recovery. She is still very much out of her mind and desires to die. Her friends have the sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral of Mrs. George Fuller was held in Glover Tuesday. Mrs. Fuller came to her death in a shocking manner. For some years she had been blind. On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Fuller returned home from a visit to John Phillips. About eight o'clock Mr. Fuller went to the barn to feed his horse leaving his wife sitting by the stove. He could not have been out more than five minutes; when he returned he saw the back room brightly lighted. Fearing trouble he ran in and there stood his wife enveloped in flames. Immediately she dropped to the floor dead. Mr. Fuller put out the fire with snow, but she never showed signs of life after she fell. She must have breathed in the smoke and flame and been suffocated. The funeral was attended at the house, Rev. A. B. Blake officiating.

Sutton.

Mrs. James Holtham is in Plymouth, N. H., for a few weeks.

The village school-room has been undergoing extensive repairs.

The remains of Anson Gray of Sheffield were brought here last Tuesday for interment.

Alfred Allard has moved from Mrs. Maria Moulton's into a tenement in the old hotel.

Miss Madge E. Burnham has been appointed superintendent of schools for the coming year.

Wheelock.

We were greatly pained to learn of the sudden death of H. P. King, which occurred at his home in Wheelock last Friday afternoon. Mr. King had not been in the best of health for some years, but his immediate death was entirely unexpected and causes a feeling of sadness in the hearts of all who knew him. Perhaps no man was better known personally to the majority of families of northern Vermont than the deceased, as he had canvassed for various state newspapers for many years and his genial, pleasant manner, together with his sterling integrity of character made for him a host of friends. Mr. King acted as agent for this paper for a long term of years, always being faithful, conscientious and trustworthy. He was held in high esteem by its publishers and will also be kindly remembered by all its patrons. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family. The funeral will be held at the church tomorrow (Tuesday) at 10 a. m.—[Ed.]
